

Layout: Rennocence
Writing:Abifaeleaf Hunter, Rennocence, PhantomOwlet
Cover: PhantomOwlet
Artwork: antigon_art, TMBK, sxrah3x, theunidentifiedpiece, VIPERYAOI, elvanputra_

One of our readers reported seeing Red in a supermarket near Norfolk, VA earlier this week. They said that Red was wearing a hoodie and seemingly keeping a low profile as he gathered a few snacks, energy drinks, a bag of googly eyes, and several rolls of cling wrap. He must have noticed the reader staring, and shushed and winked at them. What could he be cooking?

NOTE FROM ZINECORD

We had such an incredible response from our first issue and loved creating it that we just had to make a second! And YOU could be a part of it!!

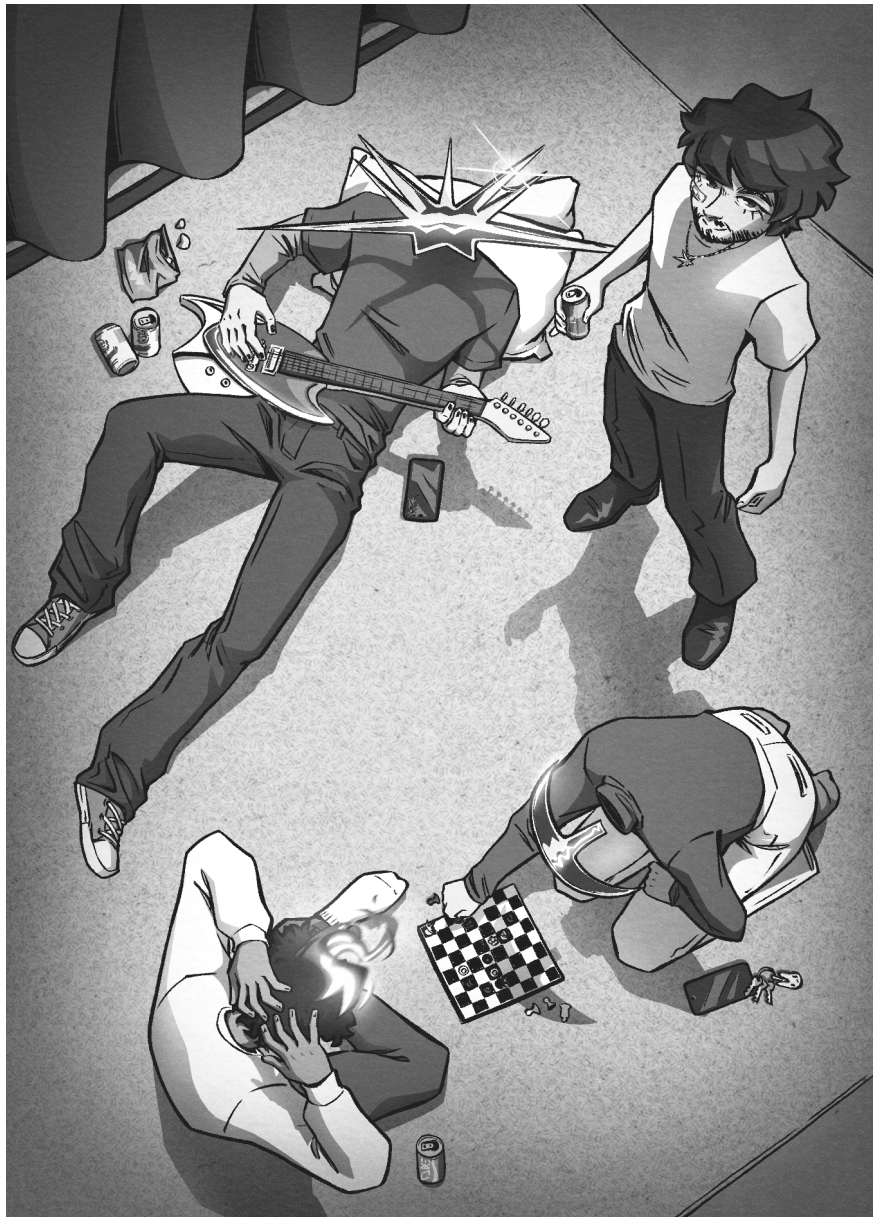

If you are a Victory fan and an artist, writer, musician or proofreader, you can register your interest to join us at our interest check. Just scan the QR code or visit zinecord.world for the form link and share a few details! You can also leave feedback on the first issue and suggest ideas for the next one. With your help, we'll make There Is No Zine 02 bigger, bolder and better than the first.

See you soon, popstars!

ZINECORD
THE HUB FOR VICTORY FAN PROJECT

There Is No Zine.

ISSUE 04 FRANKLIN MUSIC HALL, PHILADELPHIA, PA. NOVEMBER. 12. 2026 $0.00

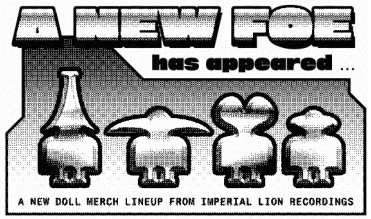

UNOFFICIAL MADEON FAN PROJECT NOT ASSOCIATED WITH MADEON OR HIS TEAM*

INTERVIEW WITH LOLA ABOUT VICTORY TOUR

Victory is 25 shows into their North American tour and have been selling out venues left and right. While on the tour, they have been spotted across multiple locations doing... whatever they do when they aren't on stage! We have gotten reports from Lola herself that the band is... chaotic while traveling, to say the least. "Red and Spikey tend to be the ones that are.... energetic." Lola told Zinecord. "There was that time in... Phoenix I think? Where we found Spikey taped to the top of the tour bus. Like... duct tape and all." Surprisingly, Juno assisted Red in this prank. It wasn't until they were 30 minutes into the drive to the next stop that the team heard screaming from the roof of the bus. "We thought it was a bird or some shit. The screaming was so high pitched," Victory's merch lady said. Hugo looked on in silent awe and concern for the band during that incident.

Meanwhile in Philadelphia, Spikey threatened to beat the shit out of one of those food delivery robots when it supposedly 'gave him a weird look.' "We really had to drag him away from that one," Lola said. Of course, Red was all for the fight. He wanted free food. He proceeded to call the robots 'lootboxes' from that point on.

Allegedly during their stop in San Diego, the band decided to stop at the local Sea World, because Juno insisted on seeing the axolotls. She even dragged Ghostie along. "I've never seen her so demanding. She just really... really wanted to see the axolotls."

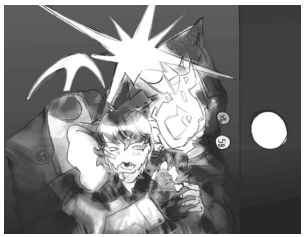

Somewhere along the way the band found a local county fair that they managed to sneak into. Tragically, Spikey was mistaken for a ring toss stand by a child. "We REALLY had to hold him back. We couldn't risk Spikey getting cancelled again." Meanwhile, Hugo ate a roof tile sized funnel cake as Red rode the Zipper over and over again until he threw up. "We actually got them all to go in a haunted house! Uhmm... Juno scared a scare actor, and Hugo apologized to the entire staff. I think he bought them all dinner after."

Hi, folks—the execs at Imperial Lion Records have been so kind as to give a so-called "special message" from Victory to us directly. I'm telling you, I've never seen an envelope decorated so lavishly! Anyways, the message says..."Happy Halloween!" And...oh, that's all there is. Well, that and a doodle of Hugo as a ghost. It's kinda cute, actually.....

WHAT JUST HAPPENED ???

You know,
I'm really glad Imperial Lion cares about its musicians! The entire band always seems so happy and full of life whenever they are on stage. Have you seen Hugo recently? He totally looks so normal. Like he has ALWAYS looked. So full of life and so joyous! Why does the bandage on his face always change position? That's so wild!! And what's up with Spikey? Why does he look like that? Why is he so flying-plastic-disc-you-throw- core? I want to throw him off a cliff and see his head spin around like a ninja star.

I seem to have..... lost the plot here.... what was I saying? I'm not sure what I just wrote, but I have a deadline here, and I still need to fill up this space.

I really like this ghost doodle! Not sure why I was talking about Surrender. I actually hate them!! They are actually the worst!! They haven't even played yet and I still hate them more than anything in this world.
Anyways, stan
Juno <3

Do you think I can use Juno's head as a boomerang? Or could I go axe throwing with her? Could I use Red to light my cigarette?

On topic, why are the fans like..... THAT? Surrender fans are SO much better. Victory fans tape Spikey's plushie to a ceiling fan. They write Spikego fanfics. I saw someone with a SHRINE. A SHRINE. WITH A STRAND OF HUGO'S HAIR. WHAT ARE THESE PEOPLE??? Surrender fans are so NORMAL. They are so classy. Victory fans are the most insane people I have ever seen online. The world would be better if they were not real. #victorydisbanded #truthnuke #spikeyisoverparty #Loremkillseveryonemercykill

